Primary Progressive Aphasia: A Life Participation Treatment Approach
Becky Khayum, MS, CCC-SLP & Emily Rogalski, PhD

Course Objectives:
• Differentiate PPA from other clinical dementia syndromes (e.g. Alzheimer’s dementia).
• Describe the difference between the clinical diagnosis and the neuropathologic diagnosis.
• Describe the difference between a diagnostic assessment and a person-centered dynamic assessment and determine which type of assessment you are likely to complete at your current healthcare setting.
• Describe the key components for writing functional, reimbursable goals for an individual with PPA.
• Describe the difference between impairment-based and compensatory interventions and give examples of how these different approaches might be applied for a patient with PPA in a way that is consistent with the life participation approach to care.
