
Learning Objectives

MedBridge
An Overview of Critical Areas in Home Health
Cindy Krafft, PT, MS
Dee Kornetti, PT, MA

Chapter 1: Model of Care Delivery and OASIS Impact on Therapy Utilization

- Articulate the connection between the changing model of home health and the utilization of therapy services
- Understand the impact of the OASIS data set on key focus areas of the therapy assessment process

Chapter 2: Importance of Care Coordination and Documentation

- Develop specific strategies to address patient issues as an interdisciplinary team
- Ensure documentation throughout the assessment clearly supports the concepts of skilled, reasonable and necessary

Chapter 3: Understanding the ICF Model in the Home Health Setting

- Define key terminology of the International Classification of Functioning, Disability, and Health (ICF) structure and its components
- Utilize the ICF model in patient-specific case scenarios commonly encountered in the home health setting

Chapter 4: Utilizing the ICF Model for Care Planning in Home Health

- Analyze the role of the ICF model in the home health care planning process
- Apply ICF model to common conditions treated by therapy in the home health setting